

YOURSTORY

Startup news and updates: daily roundup (June 30, 2026)

Your Story presents the daily news roundup from the Indian startup ecosystem and beyond. Here's the roundup for Tuesday, June 30, 2026.

Star Health partners Amplify Health to deploy AI in claims processing

Star Health and Allied Insurance has entered into a three-year partnership with Amplify Health to deploy AI-powered claims intelligence and healthcare analytics across its health insurance operations. The collaboration aims to improve cashless claims processing through faster pre-authorisation, better fraud detection, real-time decision-making and enhanced network management.

By integrating Amplify Health's AI platform into its digital health infrastructure, Star Health expects to reduce customer waiting times during hospital admissions and discharge while improving consistency in claims decisions. The insurer said the partnership forms part of its broader digital transformation strategy, leveraging artificial intelligence, machine learning and predictive analytics to deliver a smoother and more transparent healthcare experience for policyholders.